Ancient Greece – Olympics

The Ancient Greeks loved sporting competitions, so why not create your own Olympic Games at home? Invent a few fun events using whatever space and equipment you have. You could even design a medal and create an Ancient Greek-style Olympic ceremony.

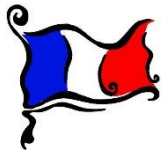

Bon appétit – French Café

Set up a pretend French café at home. Create a menu, practise greeting your customers and take their orders in French. You could use toys, drawings or imaginary food — no special ingredients needed!

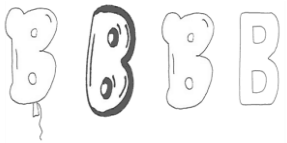

Art = Typography

Create a piece of artwork inspired by the typography you see every day. Look at signs, shops, food packaging, games, clothes or transport around you and use some of those ideas to create your own lettering. Think about how font, size, shape and colour can change the way a message feels.

Year 5

Topic Home Learning

Autumn 1

Ancient Greece, Typography, Being ME, Bon appétit

These are due on Monday 19th October, 2026 and will be presented to the class.

UNICEF Rights of the Child

Compare democracy in Ancient Greece with democracy in Britain today. Think about who gets a voice, why everyone deserves respect and what our rights and responsibilities are. Create a poster, comic, speech or artwork showing what democracy and respect mean to you.

PSHE = Being ME in My World

Write a poem all about yourself. Talk about all the things you bring the world. Explain to the reader the joy and happiness you bring to the world and the ways in which you spread positivity to those around you.

Free Days Out Linked to Our Learning

- The British Museum, London — Children can discover fascinating Ancient Greek objects and learn about Greek gods and goddesses, pottery, temples, mythology, and everyday life in Ancient Greece.
- The Tate Modern — Free entry to the main collection gives children plenty of opportunities to explore lettering, graphic design, signs, patterns, and the ways artists combine words and images to communicate ideas.
